The White Spa at The White House

Covid-19 measures

We're very much looking forward to welcoming you back to the White Spa at The White House. Whilst our doors have been closed, we've been busy creating new health and safety procedures to make sure you feel safe, relaxed and comfortable from the moment you arrive.

Following the government's advice, we've reviewed many of our policies and procedures, and given our team additional training to safeguard the spa environment.

We're pleased to share these new changes, so you'll know exactly what to expect from your next visit.
